“ Anyone who had the pleasure of knowing Joe De Luca knows the gentle soul an angel that he was. He always offered a smile, pleasant conversation mostly about weather and the Yankees and personal support To whomever he considered a friend. I will miss him talking about the dewpoints, Yankees and the fact that Hroshi(paydays)Were coming up.He was a buddy to all and I will miss him terribly and send condolences to Sandy Jolene and families. May you rest in peace my friend

“ As someone who has spent many hours in the Lafayette library, I had the pleasure of having many conversations with Joe, not surprisingly often centered on the Yankees. He was such a friendly person. With my condolences, Evan Fisher. dept. of mathematics.

“ My heart goes out to the family and friends of Joe. His was perhaps the most gentle soul I've had the honor of knowing. As our custodian for quite some time in good old Kunkle Hall of Biology, Joe kept that aging edifice in the best condition possible. Truly, he treated it as he would treat his home, with care and diligence. We frequently chatted at the end of his shift and often about my time at Notre Dame and his love of football and sports. He never had an unkind thing to say about anyone or anything as I recall. When he worked in Colton Chapel, his reverence for the sacred space was palpable and he brought the same care and kindness to all of every faith who entered there. And of course Skillman Library benefited from his work ethic and care. Whether in the hallway or far across campus, Joe always had a smile, a wave, and a wish for you to have a good day. I deeply regret not knowing about his passing--I would have been honored to attend his funeral mass. I will offer up a prayer to and for him. He will be sorely missed by all who enjoyed his sweetness and care. Rest in peace Joe.
